COMPUTER ENGINEERING TECHNOLOGY

The Computer Engineering Technology program will prepare computer engineering technicians to pursue careers in the design and maintenance of digital systems, network development and testing, and basic database programming and maintenance. Students in this program study networking and computer systems fundamentals, digital circuits design and analysis, programming in multiple computer languages, and database design.

Degree

- Computer Engineering Technology- AAS (https://catalog.kctcs.edu/programs-of-study/aas/computer-engineering-technology/computer-engineering-technology-aas/)